Aims and activities of the organization	In the past decade, Pécs has carried out a cultural investment of a scope it had never seen before. As a result, a network of local municipal institutes has been created under the name of Zsolnay Heritage Management Non-profit Ltd. Zsolnay Cultural Quarter Ceramics production made the Zsolnay family known not only in Hungary but all over the world; they established their ceramics and porcelain manufacture in Pécs in 1853. The heritage of their ceramic factory that used to operate here has been revived and lives on with new content in the Zsolnay Cultural Quarter. The Quarter hosts several unique exhibitions presenting the Zsolnay heritage. In the open-view manufacture, visitors can follow the process of ceramics production live, at the same time they can learn about traditional products of Pécs, such as the famous Pécs gloves. The Zsolnay Cultural Quarter was the largest investment for the Pécs 2010 European Capital of Culture project, which consisted of the creation of a cultural district over a large part of the Zsolnay porcelain factory in Pécs (Southern Transdanubia). The Cultural Quarter is divided into 4 areas: Artistic Quarter; Creative Quarter; Children and Family Quarter; and University Quarter. www.zsolnaynegyed.hu World Heritage, Pécs The dozens of underground tombs of the 4th-century Early Christian Burial Structures which are part of the World Heritage rested beneath the surface for more than 1500 years. In the Cella Septichora Visitor Centre, visitors can wander amongst various tombs and burial structures. Some of them are painted, and their interior is decorated with painted biblical scenes and early Christian symbols, which adds to the uniqueness and universal cultural value of the memorial. www.vilagoroksegepcs.hu

	Medieval University It presents Hungary's first university founded in 1367. The past seems to become palpable by means of modern multimedia devices and 3D reconstructions unique in Europe. In the excavated building of the former university, visitors can learn how life was for the first "university students" of the country; the exhibition also presents the medieval and Ottoman-age history of Pécs. www.kozepkoriegyetem.hu Kodály Centre It is not surprising that the Kodály Concert and Conference Centre was called "Architectural Stradivarius" by violinist Maxim Vengerov after the opening concert, and since then the building has earned international recognition. In the concert hall boasting excellent acoustics, music fans can enjoy outstanding classical, jazz, and pop music programs. Kodály Centre, due to its unique architectural solutions, has been awarded several Hungarian and foreign Prizes. www.kodalykozpont.hu The House of Art and Literature The House of Art and Literature started its operation in 1987. The activity of the House covers almost all branches of art, it is the home of the professional art of the region and the city of Pécs. It aims to convey lasting values and high artistic quality to present programs from classical to contemporary arts. https://www.pmh.hu/en
