Project

Field(s)	Art, theater, new media.
Description	Our activities for 2017/18 will be focused on new forms of education mainly thru creative media platforms, with a desire to explore the full capacity of technology in the context of education and art. Some of our projects will be: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Cathexis (supported by Creative Europe) is dealing with innovative ways of approaching the audience and creating a new field on audience research. It seeks to renew theatre's social contract and desirability by inventing a new way of creating meaningful experience for audiences. The conception of a format which includes an intense audience participation, a high stakes socially pertinent subject and the deepening and prolonging of the experience via unique workshops: these are all ways of bringing theatre into the future, helping it shed its dusty image and make it appeal to new audiences.2. Media Portal that will be focused on production of new innovative online media content that uses different forms and focuses on various political and social issues that regional societies face, the project aims to contribute to the democracy building process in the Balkan region. The project creates public space that provides conditions for generation of new young thinkers willing to develop critical attitudes and built critical conscience of public through analytical, independent and innovative content on online media portal.3. Production of six theater plays, one of them is Shklovsky / Energy of delusion that will tackle different forms of telling a story about one of the founders of Formalism within the literal theory. The sound of the play, as an integral part of the spectacle will be created with a special electronic instrument called Teremina, sounds of the actors and musicians. The goal is to create a multimedia formalistic theater play about a man who could not bear to be an immigrant.4. Besides our ongoing projects, we are interested in finding new ways of bringing art to audience with the use of new media and technology.
